

What is a 'Destination'?

Destinations are places that	at attract vi	for a tem	stay and car
be:
Destination		Example:
Continents	Asia, Europe,
C	China, USA, UK,
Pr	Jiangsu,
Ci	Wuxi,
Vi	Tongli 同里,
Res	Sanya Yalong Bay,

Destinations are essentially based on local gov______ boundaries.

Consider that boundaries move and shift. They are only a human idea and not always physical. This impacts people and culture that live within boundaries and have often led to the many wars we have witnessed in history. This provides an opportunity for tourism.

What is an 'Attraction'?

vvnat is an Attraction?			!
	or attraction is			place, venue or focus of
l.		etract visitors/o	day visitors from re	or tou
2.	Provides a pl their leisure t		experience and an enjo	oyable way for customers to spend
3.	ls developed	to realise this	potential.
4.	ls man	as a	n attraction, providing sat _	to its customers.
5.			vel of facilities and se	to meet and cater to the of its visitors.

6. May or may _____ charge an admission for entry.

Why do people travel?

Answer these questions individually:

- I. Why do people travel?
- 2. Why do people want to travel?
- 3. Where do you want to go? Why travel there?
- 4. What would stop you from travelling? What barriers exist to you travelling? Will that change? How?
- 5. What are the reasons that more people travel nowadays? Think about the 'big picture'.

Summary of worksheet	Summary of worksheet in Chinese
In your opinion, what is the most important thing to remember?

What are the keywords from this worksheet?

English:	Chinese translation:

Worksheet IA

